

HAWAII'S BEST WOMAN SWIMMER

MILDRED SLAGHT HOOPER, outstanding woman swimmer, is quoted as saying that more meets are needed to stimulate interest in the sport, also better medals.

She is correct about the meets, until yesterday there had been no swimming meet since last April, and as for better and more expensive medals, where's the money coming from?

Mrs. Hooper started swimming when she was aged 12 and her success in the water is due entirely to the unceasing efforts of her father, who not only placed her under Dad Center, so that she was taught the proper strokes and how to breathe while swimming, but accompanied her himself to see that she practiced daily.

Mrs. Hooper was married several years ago and spent a year in California. The arrival of her small daughter cut short her plans to try out for the American Olympic team. She is the outstanding woman swimmer in Hawaii today.

INTENTIONAL PASS

THERE is a clause in the baseball rules that is supposed to hamper the donation of intentional passes to batters and
