FOXX IS OFFERED Sliding Salary For The Season

(Associated Press by Wireless) FORT MYERS, Fla., March 1.— Connie Mack today offered Jimmy Foxx a sliding salary scale of $15,000 to $25,000 for the season—$15,000 basic pay and a maximum of $25,000 if attendance reached 1,000,000.

"It looks like too much of a gamble," the big home run hitter commented. "But I'll consider it."

ROGAN STILL GOOD--GOODWIN

"Wilbur (Bullet) Rogan is as good as he ever was. He can pitch with the best and with the bat he is as dangerous as in his prime."

Credit the above statement to Connie Goodwin, manager of the Philadelphia Royal Giants, who yesterday arrived on the President Lincoln following a 16 game series at Manila, P. I.

Goodwin did not make the above statements to attract the crowd. He said it from actual observation. Rogan, in the Manila series, was a main cog of the colored team which compiled 12 wins and 4 setbacks.

The Giants are here for eight games, starting Saturday afternoon with the Braves, and they aim to win in every contest.

Goodwin also stated that the quid he has with him on this trip is the most colorful and best balanced of any which has come to Honolulu. The players are versatile and his pitching staff is a wizard.

NEW RATINGS FOR AMATEURS

New classifications of amateur boxers were announced today by the A. A. U. boxing committee headed by J. E. Hoch.

Entries were coming in slowly for the next amateur smoker to be held at the Civic auditorium next Monday evening, March 5.
However, it is expected that all of the leading scrappers will be signed up before the entry lists close at the office of the committee today.
