

Open Water Swim Slated For Nov. 29

Students at University to Sponsor Event at Waikiki

THE Associated Students of the University of Hawaii will sponsor an open water swim on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, November 29, at Waikiki, it was announced yesterday.

With the different races, ranging from several hundred yards to one and a quarter mile, starting at various points, the finish will be in front of the Royal Hawaiian hotel.

The open water swim was held annually by the Outrigger Canoe club for members only, previously, but this year the University of Hawaii, which staged a similar compet in conjunction with the O. C. C. in 1933, will sponsor the event with the understanding that any swimmer will be allowed to compete.

INTERESTED IN SWIMMING

The students at the University of Hawaii have taken a sweeping interest in swimming and has contributed materially towards its development. Early this year, they sponsored the A. A. U. Indoor championships and presently the outdoor championships are being run by them.

In the open water swim there will be events for both men and women.

The blue ribbon event for men will be the one and quarter mile swim which will start at Castle Surfs outside the Elks club, and that for the women will be half mile for women. The latter event will start in front of Public Baths. The men's half mile swim will get underway at the same spot.

Cunha's Surf will be the taking-off point for the women junior race.

The novice races for both men and women will start at Canoe Surf.

Trophies will be presented to the winning men team and also to the victorious women team.

And for swimmers finishing in the first three places regular A. A. U. medals will be awarded.

Entries will close November 26
