

FINAL MEET AT WAIKIKI TANK

100 Meter Freestyle For Men Is Featured Race; All Stars To Compete

The concluding meet of the Hawaiian outdoor swimming championships, sponsored this year by the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii, is all set for tonight with five championship events dotting the program that is scheduled to commence at 7:30 o'clock at the War Memorial natatorium.

The 200 meters backstroke open for men, 100 meters freestyle open for men, 800 meters freestyle relay open for men, 800 meters freestyle relay open for women and platform diving are the five championship events.

In the 200 meter backstroke will be found such men as B. Webster of the army, N. Hamada, D. Martin, B. Pung and M. Furusho of Hui Makani as principal contenders for first honors.

Pump Searle

Hard Picking

It is not an easy thing to choose from this group the probable winner. All have a good chance of turning the trick, although D. Martin and M. Furusho of Hui Makani have well established abilities.

The 100 meter freestyle championship swim will feature R. Raynör, W. Waidlich, W. Tannehill and W. Lake of the army, against the best swimmers from the Hui Makanis, H. Freeland, Martin, Pung and Harada. Lake and Furusho will have a swell time settling this affair with the others.

Hui Makani and the Army should fight out the 800 meter freestyle relay for men while the Outrigger Canoe club is favored to cop this same race for women.

Eddie Alvarez is established favorite in the platform diving event.

The order of the events of the night follows:

Platform diving (exhibition).

50 meters freestyle novice for women.

200 meters backstroke open for men (Hawaiian championship).

500 meters freestyle junior for men.

100 meters freestyle open for men (Hawaiian championship).

300 meters individual medley novice for men.

300 meters medley relay open for women.

400 meters medley relay novice for men.

300 meters medley relay junior for men.

800 meters freestyle relay open for men (Hawaiian championship).

800 meters freestyle relay open for women (Hawaiian championship).