

OUTRIGGER CLUB TO STAGE WATER EVENTS

Beach Club Has Ambitious Schedule—Volley Slammers Going Strong

DURING the coming of the fleet the Outrigger plans to stage a water spectacle at Waikiki. The beach and adjacent waters will be flooded by searchlights made possible through the courtesy of the Harbor Defense. As the spectacle will be held during full moon, the exhibition of surf riding, canoeing and swimming should be of great interest to both the visiting fleet personnel, as well as the kamaainas.

Such well known swimmers as the Kahanamokus, Gay Harris, Mariechen Wehnelau and others too numerous to mention will be asked to participate. Preceding this event the club will hold a beach supper on the lanai of the club to which members, their families and friends will be invited.

One of the outstanding activities at the club has been the volleyball tournament now in progress. Designed for the senior members without regard to their age, ability to play or their physique, this tournament has given opportunity to players to compete on even terms with other members. More than fifty members are playing on six well balanced teams meeting every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon at 4:45 p. m. Great interest is manifested, all players watching the score board as to standing of the various teams.

This tournament is now entering its fifth week, each week of play bringing forth more spirited and better competition. The finish of the tournament will be celebrated by a chowder dinner and rally for the winning team, who will be crowned as Outrigger Club Volleyball champs.

In addition to this tournament, a string of twelve volleyballers are competing for a place on the team to be selected to play in the coming AAU city tournament. A fast brand of volleyball is expected of this group, practice being held at least twice weekly, and it is predicted in volleyball circles, that this team will be the one to beat for championship honors.

Dad Center has sent out a call for candidates for paddling in the coming Fourth of July races and those to be held at Kona later in the summer. Soon the Ala Wai will be active with crews striving to perfect their stroke and form, and make the various crews. Center and Gay Harris state that there is no lack of excellent material and that this year, men who last year made the crews, will have a tough time holding their own against a large group of younger
