

The other day George Scott made his appearance in a pair of "Waikiki Willies" and the boys gave him the bird about staying on the left side of the clock. The left side of the clock is the Outrigger version of nowhere to be if you want to remain in the good graces of the hui that sling the oil cans every afternoon under the lone hau tree by the volleyball courts. Incidentally that is the gathering place of the best oil line layers the beach has ever seen. When "Hot Dog" Hartman, George (Swede) Bates, Robert (Apron Girth) or (Sun Bait) Hogan, and Louis (Fuzzy Neck) Dolan get together with some of the others it's fast going.
