

The Uluniu Club at Waikiki adjoining the Outrigger Club is also undergoing changes, as a second story is being added to the present building and additional servants' quarters built. During the vacation months, the club has been taxed to its utmost to care for the large number of members and their friends, and this added space will make for comfort for all concerned.