

Local Volleyball Game Terminated by Termites

A game "termed out."

You've heard of a contest being rained out, smoked out, flooded out, forfeited, called on account of darkness or wet grounds.

But it is doubtful you've heard of an athletic event being terminated by termites.

This occurred last evening to add to the problems of night recreation officials.

August Pacheco, superintendent of night sports for the recreation commission, announced from now on he will equip himself with flit guns and ammunition to battle the termites.

Said termites prevented the staging last night of the junior four men volleyball games in the Kawaiahao recreation center.

At 7, when the contests were to start, a swarm of termites invaded the gymnasium.

Unable to See

Players were unable to see, as the insects got into their eyes, noses and mouths.

After a few services it was decided to postpone the games.

This is the first time in the history of local sports that an athletic event was "termed out" and don't think the recreational officials are smiling about it either.

While the junior contests were postponed the senior matches were staged—some two hours later.

The Matsons defeated the Outriggers 15-11, 11-15 and 15-13.

P. Asuncion and C. Keliikipi led the attack for the winners while Jennings Parker, L. Chiswick and H. Heen starred for the losers.

The Matsons play the Kakaako MIA at the Kawaiahao recreation center next Wednesday night in the finals of the losers' bracket and Pacheco hopes it will not be "termed out."

Kyodo Kai Sponsors Skip Saturday Night

An Oriental skip, sponsored by the Kyodo Kai, will be given at the Armory Saturday night beginning at 8.

The club was formed in November. Proceeds of the dance will be used to equip a football team which will enter the Palama league next season.
