

Canoe Race Slated Today

Consolation Event For Shingle Trophy To
Start 2:30

The six losing canoes in the Pualani Topping races and who failed to finish in the money will sail it out today to see who is the best among the losers. The race is for the James Shingle trophy and all of the skippers are out to win. The race will start from in front of the Outrigger Canoe Club at 2:30 p. m., and should finish in time for the winners to appear at the KGU beach broadcast which is held every Saturday at the Waikiki Beach Patrol headquarters.

Entered In Race

The canoes entered for this contest are the Black Maria, skippered by John D. Kaupiko, Sr., the Kaiona with Harry Steiner at the helm; the Ka Moi with Bob Topping and Pualani Topping as crew; the Halekulani with Jayne Topping and David Kahanamoku as skipper; the Elima, piloted by John Ernstberg, and the Keeaumoku captained by Charlie Amalu.

This should be a very exciting race, and it will be in the full view of all who are on the beach as the whole course can be easily followed from shore. Pualani Topping has kindly donated the use of her Wikiwiki as committee boat for this race.
