

Outrigger Club To Consider Bonds For New Beach Quarters

Members of the Outrigger Canoe club, famed 38 year old institution, will vote at 4 p. m. July 28, upon a proposed $90,000 bond issue to build a new clubhouse. The meeting will be held in the chamber of commerce office.

The addition would be located on the area now occupied by the Uluniu club. Space between the Outrigger club and the Royal Hawaiian hotel will be given the Uluniu club.

Bearing 5 per cent interest, the bonds would have a $50 principal value and mature in 20 years.

Other business to be taken up at the meeting includes charter amendments, adoption of new bylaws and election of a board of directors.
