

It's Your Own Club

Executives of many Honolulu civic organizations will get together today at the Chamber of Commerce, to hear from Walter Macfarlane and Leslie A. Hicks the details of the rehabilitation of the Outrigger Canoe club.

The meeting has more than ordinary significance. It is a splendid example of the way we cooperate in Hawaii. And it turns the spotlight on one of Hawaii's important clubs.

The Outrigger club was founded more than three decades ago for the perpetuation of those sports Hawaii has made world-famous—surfing, swimming and canoeing. As such it takes its place alongside such groups as the Chamber of Commerce and the Realty Board—a club, but also an integral part of the community.

It is well that the presidents of the other clubs in Hawaii realize the Outrigger's civic importance, and seek to lend their support to it as a worthy community organization.
