

Outrigger Canoe Club Building Program Will Be Speeded

Walter James Macfarlane, president of the Outrigger Canoe Club, announced yesterday that all details which had been causing delay have been adjusted satisfactorily, and that the program of the Outrigger club was now "full speed ahead" towards completion of the buildings.

"This will be pleasant news to the 700 members of the club and to the community at large," Mr. Macfarlane said. "The group of buildings will make a handsome improvement for the Waikiki section, and will provide a home for the club that all will be proud of.

"Every possible feature for the comfort and entertainment of members and their guests will be incorporated.

Lounge, Sundeck

"To the large number of members who joined the club primarily for social activities the spacious lounge and sundeck overlooking the beach should be a popular gathering place.

"The directors desire to express their appreciation for the generous support tendered thus far to this worthy institution. However, the opportunity is still open to those interested in the permanent success of the club to provide from memberships and bond subscriptions the small amount still needed to pay for all improvements in full and open the club free from debt.

"The present membership assures a revenue which should be ample to cover operating expenses; also bond interest and sinking fund requirements.

To Advance Fees

"With the uncertainty regarding the future of the club being now removed and with the present large membership roll, it is entirely reasonable that the initiation fees be advanced to a proper level and notice of this will be given very shortly. In the meantime a limited number of applications will be accepted on the present basis.

"A call will be issued immediately to all bond subscribers and members to make payments in accordance with their contracts and we feel confident that the response will be adequate to enable us to 'pay as we go.'"
