The Star-Bulletin will begin next Monday a second series of reminiscences by Alexander Hume Ford.

The first series ran several months ago and attracted much attention and many readers. The second series, similarly titled "Famous Men I Have Met," deals with Mr. Ford's varied contacts, friendships and journalistic adventures.

Mr. Ford has been a resident of Hawaii most of the past 35 years, with frequent trips to other parts of the world. He founded or helped to found the Outrigger club, Trail and Mountain club, Pan-Pacific Union and a dozen other organizations. Now retired, he lives on Maui.
