

Seen Around At Outrigger Club Opening Night

By ZAIDA

Figuratively speaking, the Outrigger canoe club members and their guests kissed the "good old days" goodbye Wednesday night with the formal opening and dedication of the new club at Waikiki.

Old memories of "duck pond days" with the swampy surroundings and odoriferous debris faded into the past, buried forever beneath and around the land and buildings of the present era. From the handful of interested kamaainas who formed the original club under the able leadership of Alexander Hume Ford, the club has lived—sometimes almost died—for 32 years until the modernly equipped and beautifully planned buildings of today have become a reality. The organization now boasts a membership of an even 1,000 with a growing waiting list.

Hawaiian musicians played and sang as guests gathered for dinner at tables set on the canopied lawn, near the seaside and on the club's lanai. Mrs. Duke Kahanamoku and Margaret Smith greeted guests at the door and presented each lovely lady with giant gardenias—gardenias were everywhere—orchids, too—and pikake necklaces about pretty throats.

As president of the club, Walter Macfarlane was host to a party of 16. Walter was given a plaque by the board of directors for his "untiring efforts." He wore a red carnation lei—talked high finance with a sense of humor over the microphone—danced an impromptu hula for an appreciative audience—kissed his mother a sweet good night—and waltzed the last one with a sweet somebody in red.

Dorothy Lamour and boy friend Greg Bautzer were holding hands and eyeing only each other. Dorothy appropriately wore a flame colored gown that betrayed more or less and here and there a shapely tanned torso. Judy Canova, the movies' Sis Hopkins, who reminds us of a younger Fannie Brice, had donned a blue evening sweater—a pert blue bow in her hair above a pert pug nose. . . The Tony Guereros were in the same party. Tony, you may remember was the beeg Indian chief in the film, Northwest Passage, with Spencer Tracy and Robert Young. His beautiful little brunette wife was also in films before coming to Honolulu. . . Skipper Pease in mess jacket and maroon accessories skippered Charlotte Jones from California. . . Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kay were there—so was "Granny Abbott and attractive Mrs. Abbott.

Nearby we discovered Chief of Staff Col. Philip Hayes in deep conversation with Earl Thacker.

Dorothy Thacker was charming in pale blue. She left today on the Matsonia with the two Thacker kiddies for a mainland summer vacation. . . Col. George Bicknell and his blonde bride just across the way—and always smiling C. W. (Pop) Dickey.

Murray Johnson was busy bustling about. . . Naomi Benyas with sprained ankle and high spirits. . . Dusty Smith cigar puffing between dances. . . Red and Mrs. Red McQueen. . . the hungary Murle Ogden and happy Donald Clarks. . . James P. Winne waltzing about. . . Supervisor and Mrs. Marshall Wright. . . Charlie Eaton charging around the dance floor. . . Mrs. Eaton smiling. . . the Ernest Stenbergs. . . Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Campbell doing a dance of their own design. . . Hope Kellerman. . . Bill Cogswell. . . the George II Brown Jrs. la congoing by themselves in a cool corner. . . Fay Davis and Johnny Gomes exhibiting the rumba. . . those charming Chillingworth sisters, Maris with Ensign Reg Proseus. . . Thylis and Marcus Billson.

Other Mr. and Mrs. couples included the Roy Vitouseks, Lester Fishels, Walter Flanders, Les Petersens, R. L. Lukens—hundreds more! Caught in a quick glance were SAILING TODAY on the Matsonia was Mrs. N. B. Beck, above. She is the wife of Dr. Beck of the English department of the University of Hawaii who will be an exchange professor next year in English at Stanford university. Dr. and Mrs. Beck will spend the year on the mainland.—Esther Mitchell photo.

Chinese Club To Have Meeting

Members of the Chinese Women's club and their guests will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lam, 4909 Kalanialoale highway for dinner at 6:30 p. m. Saturday. Dancing, cards and mah jongg will be held after dinner.

Hostesses at the party are Mesdames Richard Tongg, Henry Lau, Lemuel Chong, Thomas Akana, Edward Wong, Theodore Char, Howard Lam, Ernest Ing, James Chinn, W. T. Chan, Y. O. Mark, Albert Lee, Edwin Chinn, H. Q. Pang, Owen Hee, James Chun, Titus Fong, Arthur Zane, H. W. Wong, Harry Lin, K. C. Chock, T. Y. Awana, Calvin Chun, T. H. Young and Eddie Lam and Miss Elsie Ho.

Zonta Luncheon Held

The Zonta luncheon meeting for June was held Tuesday noon at the YWCA with the president, Clare Hieber-Rossiter, presiding. Hostesses were Mae Jennings, Adelaide Young and Stella Robinson.

Mrs. Frank S. Warren, a former member, was welcomed back to active membership in the club. The only guest was the speaker for the occasion, the Rev. Melvin Harter of Central Union church. His subject was International Relations and What We Can Do About It.

Dinner Party Held

HONOKAA, Hawaii, June 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Y. Takahashi were hosts at a dinner on Saturday evening at their home, held in honor of their daughter, Yaeko, who was recently married to K. Nakamura of Oloa.

Norrie Stone as always and forever. . . Pat Patterson mentally tabulating the most gorgeous gowns and girls. . . Bill Hollinger hallowing his friends. . . Andy Anderson showing them how the la conga should be done.

Others seen about included Jack Mackenzie, Alex Atherton, Chad Dunstan, A. L. Nelson, Robert Shivers, Al Slipper, Gay Harris, L. A. Hicks, Herb Fox, C. E. Nolan, A. A. Scott, P. H. Johnson, Tom Singlehurst, Harrison Cooke, James Mann, Sam Fuller—all hosts to big or small parties.

We'll remember Duke Kahanamoku's brief but straight from the heart speech, Walter Macfarlane's publicized headaches and heartaches that helped to make the club real. . . Proud Pop Haehnlen tired but still beaming. . . Manager Jack Bowden who succeeded in making everyone feel at home by his watchful care and good natured "over the mike" sallies. . . the good fun everyone seemed to be having.

SALADS LIKE THIS!
POTATO SALAD
W/ MAYONNAISE

