

Memorial Rites Are Held For Macfarlane

Memorial services for the late Walter J. Macfarlane, president of the Outrigger Canoe Club, were held in the dining salon of the club yesterday morning, attended by a large group of his fellow club members and friends.

The half-hour service was conducted by the Rev. Henry P. Judd, who eulogized the former representative and leader in many civic activities. Special tribute was paid to Mr. Macfarlane's foresight and energy in bringing about the present Outrigger Canoe Club, to which he devoted much time before he realized success.

Leslie A. Hicks, acting president of the club, also spoke on the untimely death of Macfarlane who, he said, was not only an outstanding citizen of the community but also was one of the best sports insofar as political activities were concerned.

A Hawaiian string orchestra played throughout the service.
