

Outrigger Club Is Saving Food By Reducing Servings

Volunteer food saving on a definite basis has been initiated by the Outrigger club, according to Henry De Gorog.

Mr. De Gorog tells The Star-Bulletin that some time ago consumption of butter, canned fruits and vegetables was materially curtailed. He says that the Outrigger club is glad to comply with the suggestion of the national food administration and territorial division of food control, that butter consumption be cut by 20 per cent and canned fruits and vegetables by 33 per cent.

This is effected by serving smaller portions of each to customers, also reducing the amounts of butter and canned fruits and vegetables used in prepared dishes.
