been in Washington, D. C., and who flew to the Pacific coast, and a sister, Mrs. Walter Flanders of Palo Alto, Cal.

Nephew of Princess

Mr. Macfarlane was a grandson of the late James Campbell, prominent Hawaiian capitalist and industrial leader. He was a nephew of Princess Abigail Kawanānākoa, Mrs. Charles Amalu and Mrs. Beatrice Wrigley.

He is survived also by a sister, Mrs. Kala Heck, and by a brother, Wyatt Macfarlane, both of Honolulu.

Mr. Macfarlane was born in Honolulu on September 5, 1907.

He was educated at Punahou and at Belmont high school, California, and was graduated from the University of Hawaii.

Married In 1941

Mr. Macfarlane was married to Miss Audrey Hughes, a landscape painter and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Hughes of Los Angeles, in Las Vegas, Nev., December 1, 1941.

The Macfarlanes had planned to return to Hawaii on their honeymoon, but the war interrupted and Mr. Macfarlane returned to Hawaii alone while Mrs. Macfarlane went to live with her parents in Mexico City.

Mr. Macfarlane was president of the Outrigger Canoe club in 1937-38 and took a prominent part in plans for construction of the new clubhouse at Waikiki in 1941.

A Republican, he served in the house from 1935 to 1942 as a member from the 4th district and was interested chiefly in legislation designed to benefit Hawaiian youths.

In 1941-42 he served on the legislative holdover committee that studied many important governmental problems.

Active In Sports

He was very active in sports during high school and university days, being a football star in the backfield.

Mr. Macfarlane was a partner in the advertising agency of Bowman Holst Macfarlane Richardson, Ltd., serving as vice president and treasurer.

His mother was elected to the territorial senate for a four year term in 1942, and shortly before his death had been in Washington, D. C., on business in the interests of Hawaiian homesteaders.
