

OUTRIGGER CLUB TO SET PLANS TONIGHT

Revival of water carnival to proportions and color of old Hawaii is being planned by the Outrigger Canoe club.

A committee consisting of Duke P. Kahanamoku, former world's swimming champion and now sheriff of Honolulu; Gay Harris, George D. (Dad) Center, William Mullahey, Charles Amalu and Ah Kong Pang is meeting at 6 tonight at Outrigger Canoe club pavilion to set plans for a comeback of the popular beach program.

Although time is short, the committee revealed that it is expecting to put on at least seven events at Waikiki beach this Sunday afternoon beginning at 1:30.

Outrigger canoe paddling and surfboard racing for both men and women will be included. Already a long list of prizes has been secured and more awards are being put up hourly.

It is the hope of the committee that this Sunday's carnival will lead to a grand program on July 4, at which time all the color and events of the good old days will be witnessed.

At tonight's meeting the committee with other officials familiar with beach sports will make definite plans as to events, distances and rules not only for this Sunday's program but also for the July 4 affair.

It is possible that there will be the coronation of a water carnival queen or a beauty contest included on the July 4 festivities which are to be complete with Hawaiian music and hula dancing.
