

Canoe Races Set By Outrigger Club

Impromptu canoe races will be held at the Outrigger Canoe Club in celebration of Regatta day, Saturday, Gay Harris, assistant manager of the club announced.

Events which will be for members and their guests, will be staged between 1:30 and 5 p.m. During the program, members and their families will be taken for rides in canoes and sail boats.

Among the "oldtimers" to be in charge are Duke P. Kahana-moku, head of the sailing committee, George D. "Dad" Cen-

dium tank, upper right, is show

SUN SIZZLES FRESH EGG

When the first heat wave of summer hit the Cape Town district in South Africa, temperatures of 103 degrees were registered at Worcester, and 100 or above at Wellington and Malmesbury. At Moorreesburg, 50 fowls dropped dead. Toward evening a Muscovy duck egg was taken, piping hot, out of a nest. When opened it had the appearance of having been boiled for four minutes.

ter, in charge of canoes and Charles Amalu, supervisor of activities. Miss Jean Reichard of the women's committee also will be on hand to assist.

A holoku-aloha shirt ball will mark the evening's festivities.