

TALKS OVER OLD TIMES—Lt. Col. Norman Ross (right), now of the army air forces and former world's middle and long distance swimming champion, is shown talking over old Olympic aquatic times with Honolulu Sheriff Duke P. Kahanamoku, most famous of Hawaii's swimmers, and Gay Harris (left), another former swimming star here. Col. Ross is in Honolulu for a brief stopover before returning to the mainland. He had been on Okinawa. The photo was snapped at Waikiki beach in front of Outrigger Canoe club where Mr. Harris is acting manager.—Star-Bulletin photo.
