Olson Meets Tough Foe In Paul Lewis

Carl (Bobo) Olson, undefeated in 22 professional bouts, meets the toughest test of his career on June 20 when he squares off against Paul Lewis, Arizona middleweight. Lewis is expected here by plane Sunday, according to Promoter Al Schaff.

Lewis has been fighting professionally since 1940 and holds a string of knockouts. He's met the best boys in his weight division along the West Coast, including Chester Slider, Paulie Peters, Jack Chase, Holman Williams and Sheik Rangel.

In two of his more recent bouts he kayoed Earl Turner and dropped a verdict to Tommy Bell, who gave Jake LaMotta one of the toughest fights of his career.

The Olson-Lewis bout is billed for 10 rounds and will be presented at the Civic auditorium. Olson, middleweight champ of the Islands, is slated to meet Georgie Duke on July 4.

Promoter Schaff said yesterday that he hopes to sign the support-
