Magill Named Manager of Outrigger Club

E. P. Magill, an experienced mainland club manager, has been named new manager of the Outrigger Canoe club, Wilford D. Godbold, president, said Wednesday.

Mr. Magill came to Honolulu on a vacation and was asked to make a survey and report on the club, Mr. Godbold said. On the basis of this report and his experience, he was chosen for the position.

He is a former manager of the Tower, Miami Beach, Fla.; the Marcy, Lake Placid, N. Y., and the Wyndhurst club, Lenox, Mass.

He replaces Gay Harris, who resigned February 2 to enter private business.

Mr. Godbold was reelected to his third term as the club's president at the annual meeting last Friday.

Other officers reelected were Samuel Fuller, vice president, and Thomas Singlehurst, secretary-treasurer.

Directors reelected include Mr. Godbold, Duke P. Kahanamoku,

Leslie A. Hicks and Thomas Singlehurst. New directors are Dr. K. C. Leebrick and Herbert Taylor.

The hippopotamus has a life span of about 41½ years.

If Your Child CAN'T GAIN WEIGHT

try giving him Ovaltine

If a child's diet lacks certain food elements serious things can happen. Stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth! Faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight!

Ovaltine supplies food elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three glasses made with milk provide a child's daily requirement of Vitamins A, B₁, C, D and G, and minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

But Ovaltine is more than just a vitamin carrier. It also provides basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth and development.

So if your child can't gain weight, is thin and nervous, or eats poorly, why not turn to Ovaltine?
