

PAGEANTRY OF OLD HAWAII marked Honolulu's observance of National Maritime Day Saturday. Seen from the deck of the coast guard cutter Iroquois are the canoes of the Outrigger Canoe club which put out from Waikiki beach Saturday to greet the official vessel of the Maritime Day marine parade. Hawaiian greetings were exchanged between Chanter David K. Bray on the double canoe and the Rev. Henry P. Judd aboard the Iroquois. The Rev. Mr. Judd later gave a prayer in English and Hawaiian in commemoration of the merchant marine dead of World War War II.—Star-Bulletin photo.
