

Hundreds Vie In Races, Fishing

A full program of water sports with hundreds of contestants competing for the coveted Aloha Week medals occupied Honolulu's attention Sunday during the final day of festival-filled Aloha Week.

Over 30 spear fishermen were out in the deep water off Ala Moana reef at 8 a.m. beginning the day of aqua-events as entries in the spearfishing contest sponsored by Waikiki Surf club.

ROLAND WILSON was top winner with the biggest catch of the day. George Downing, Jr., recorded the second biggest catch, Paul Ichimura, third biggest catch; Bob Haney, fourth biggest catch, and Blue Makua came out with the largest eel caught.

Winners were awarded prizes donated by local fishing supply and sporting goods stores, with Eric Adams and Dorian Paskowitz walking off with miniature spears,
(Continued on Page 4, Col. 6)