

* * *

MAIN TOPIC of interest for many of those who frequent the Outrigger has changed from volleyball to babies. It seems most of the young couples who do not have offspring, soon will.

* * *

The beach crowd will soon lose two of its dashing young bachelors. Francis (Sully) O'Sullivan and Rayno Akana are planning to work a year on Kwajalein.

* * *

Philip Caricof and his bride, the former Tracy Lunt of Rochester, N. Y., were seen at the Kamaaina Hui dance at the Outrigger Canoe club Friday night.

The newlyweds arrived in Honolulu Wednesday. They are staying with Phil's parents on Tantalus while the senior Caricofs are on the mainland.

* * *

Bob Hite, who returned to Honolulu a week ago Saturday on the Lurline, took his young son, Charlie, to the beach for the first time Sunday.

Over the weekend Cline Mann returned here from Molokai, where he has been working for the past several weeks. Of course, he was on the beach.