

Water Pageant Monday

Among the many events scheduled for the week-end celebration honoring Kamehameha I, the water pageant at the Outrigger Canoe Club at Waikiki Monday should hold special interest for visitors. The club goes in for historical accuracy in its portrayal of Hawaiian activities and can be counted on to present a spectacle on this occasion that will have special appeal to people who are interested in the colorful aspects of Polynesia.

Hawaii has a large number of Mainland visitors here now and their total will be increased by some seven hundred when the Lurline arrives Monday morning. The water pageant, with its accompanying hookupu—the ceremony of bringing gifts—will afford an appropriate aloha to the newcomers.
