

HAWAII'S LEGENDARY DUKE Kahanamoku, sheriff of Honolulu and internationally famous, posed with a surfboard Friday during his 60th birthday celebration. Duke, who crashed the world's sports pages nearly 40 years ago, can still splash a fast 100 yards and surf with the best of them. He showed in four Olympics from 1912 to 1928. The Duke celebrated his birthday anniversary Thursday, but today is Duke Kahanamoku Day. The day will be filled with a variety of water sports off Waikiki beach, sponsored by the Outrigger Canoe club.—Star-Bulletin photo.
