Plans Made For Water Sports Day

Plans have been completed for the Surf Life Saving Association of Hawaii to work with the Hawaiian Surfing and Canoe Racing Association to participate in the Aloha Week Water Sports Day activities.

The Surf Life Saving Association will provide entertainment for spectators waiting for the finish of the Molokai to Oahu canoe race which ends at Waikiki beach in front of the Moana Hotel Saturday, Oct. 24.

A picnic for all members and their families will be held at Puuiki Beach (Waialua Plantation Beach house), Mokuleia, on Saturday, Sept. 19, from 12 noon. Danny Kamalani, chief superintendent of the board of examiners, announces everyone is to bring their own food but soft drinks will be provided by Waialua Surf Club, headed by Tom Lee, which is also making arrangements for the picnic.

Purpose of the affair is to serve as a get-together for those who are to participate in the Aloha Week program. Practice for all events to be held that day by the group will be held after lunch.

Also scheduled is a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 8, at Aloha Week headquarters in the Armory to work out teams for events to be rehearsed at the picnic and for the Water Sports Day Oct. 24.

Special invitations to attend this meeting are extended to men in military service who are familiar with the reel, line and belt method of life saving. Herberf Lagerfeld, Ben Dillingham and Mrs. Elsie Ross Lane, executive secretary of Aloha Week, are honorary vice presidents of the association expected to be present at the meeting.

"Howdy" Reynolds, secretary of the SLSAH, announced that uniforms for the Oahu teams and surf clubs will be furnished by various Australian surf clubs and that BCP Airlines is donating a complete new reel, line and belt setup for the Waikiki Surf Club. The presentation will be made at the Aloha Week water carnival day. Many of the pilots and crewmen of BCPA are former or active members of Australian surf clubs and pass through Honolulu regularly.
