Canoe Racing, Dinner Dances Among Labor Day Activities

Thousands of spectators are expected to watch Labor Day festivities which this year include outrigger canoe racing, parades, Hawaiian entertainment, bicycle races and dinner dances.

The Windward side will feature two days of outrigger canoe racing and beach activities at Kailua under the auspices of Koolaupoko Lions Club.

SATURDAY

6 p.m.—Two day carnival begins, sponsored by Waipahu Filipino Community Association at Waipahu Ball Park. Royal Hawaiian Band plays Saturday night. Carnival Queen crowned at 10 p.m. Sunday program starts at 2 p.m.

Carnival includes variety shows, dancing contests, games for young and old, midway rides and refreshments. Veterans of Foreign Wars band to play Sunday night.

SUNDAY

11 a.m.—Outrigger canoe racing will begin at Kailua, Oahu. Between races, hula troupes and musicians will provide entertainment.

1 p.m.—A fashion show will be presented by Mary Lou Stielau's Models Hawaii, displaying beach wear and Island styles as part of the Kailua Labor Day program.

MONDAY

9 a.m.—Parade through downtown Honolulu by members of the Oahu Labor Council. Includes members of the I.L.W.U., Marine Cooks and Stewards, United Public Workers and the Hawaii Office Workers Union.

Rally will follow at City Hall grounds with speakers including Mayor Wilson, Harry Bridges, I.L.W.U. international president; Tony Rania, I.L.W.U. Local 142 president; the Reverend Joseph Dizon and James King, attorney.

(Other parades and rallies by the I.L.W.U. scheduled for Kauai, Maui and Hawaii Islands.)

9:30 a.m.—The traditional Labor Day bicycle races will begin with boys, 14 to 16, starting on Kalanianaole Highway near the Koolau Boys' School. Intermediate peddlers will start from the Central Service Station with midget entrants to follow.

10 a.m.—The Royal Hawaiian Band will start festivities at the Kailua Labor Day races with a half tour concert in Kailua Park.

11 a.m.—The second and final day of outrigger canoe racing will begin at Kailua, Oahu.

12:15 p.m.—Rennie Brooks' troupe will officiate at the crowning of the regatta queen, Margaret Kaanapu, at the Kailua Labor Day festivities.

1:30 p.m.—The Hawaii Calls program will be presented by Webley Edwards with Al Kealoha Perry and the Surfriders from the beach at Kailua Park.

6:30 p.m.—The American Federation of Labor is holding a dinner dance at the Moana Hotel.

$1,500 Scholarship Won by Island Girl

Janet N. Hirata, 1357 Kapakahi Road, has been awarded a $1,500 scholarship by the Honolulu chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

She is the 31st Honolulu resident to receive the March of Dimes scholarship. She plans to leave Wednesday for Wayne University in Detroit, where she will study occupational therapy for 18 months.

TONIGHT on television

POODLES
'POSSUMS
and
PING PONG
on
SUPER CIRCUS