Good Surf Running At Waikiki Beach

An "unusually good surf for September" is running out at Waikiki, according to Sally Hale, head attendant for the Outrigger Canoe Club beach service.

He forecast that the waves, good for experienced surfers, would probably last through tomorrow.

Surfing enthusiasts reported First Break and Blow Hole Surf —granddaddies of Oahu surf.

According to Sally, Waikiki's waves are good during July and August but normally peter out by September. Surfers generally move to Makaha during winter months.
