

OUTRIGGER CREW IS SHY THREE PADDLERS

Club Issues Call for Members to Fill Depleted Ranks for Regatta Day Event.

The Outrigger paddlers are getting anxious about their crew which is to go up against the Hawaiian six from Kona on regatta day, the seventeenth of this month. They will be minus half of their regular crew this year and unless a trio of enthusiastic canoeists of the club round themselves up for practise with the remaining three right away the haoles will be in danger of loosing their supremacy over the native lads in outrigger speeding.

Harry Steiner and David Center, a pair of the regular six, have gone away and Vincent Genoves, the third, expects to leave Honolulu before the eventful day. An urgent appeal was issued last night for all the patriotic members of the Waikiki organization to show up at the beach this afternoon about five-thirty. Kenneth Brown is captain of the outrigger crew and is in charge of the training for the six-paddle race with the crew from Hawaii on regatta day which is only two weeks off. The Outrigger club paddlers want to get busy every afternoon from now on.
