

AMATEUR ATHLETIC CLUBS WILL ORGANIZE TOMORROW

Baseball Team, Military Association, Schools, Outriggers, Trail and Mountain Hikers, and Various Other Sportsmen to Join.

The representatives of local athletic clubs are going to get together in Lorrin Andrews' office tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock in the final effort to organize a Hawaiian branch of the A. A. U. "We have got to do it now," said Lorrin Andrews yesterday. "Secretary Sullivan of the national organization has advertised it throughout the United States, by giving out an interview to all the newspapers of the country through the Associated Press about the correspondence I had with him in regard to Hawaii coming under the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., and we can't back out now."

The Punahou alumni baseball team is going to be represented by Winne, the backstop, who is strongly in favor of amateur baseball, and Corp. A. T. Woodruff of Fort Shafter, who was in charge of the all-military team in the big league series, promised yesterday to be on hand to represent the Military Athletic Association. Woodruff is an individual member of the A. A. U., and he thinks the Military Athletic Association will come into the organization. E. A. Jordan will be one of the enthusiastic delegates at tomorrow's meeting, as he is already putting out feelers among the Coast golf clubs to sound them on a proposition to send a team down here to play a series of matches with the local golf clubs, and he wants to get the status of the Honolulu clubs settled on this account. Every golfer who goes from here to the Coast Jordan instructs to visit the golf clubs there and talk up the idea of their sending some of their putters to Hawaii. There are a lot of wealthy men, Jordan said yesterday, who are members of the clubs in the States, and they would just like a good excuse to come down here. They would probably pay their own expenses, Jordan continued, and the cost of getting up the tournaments here would be very moderate.

The students of the College of Hawaii held a meeting last week for the organization of an association to promote all lines of activities, and Miss Margaret Ashford and Ed. Carden, with E. R. Tracy, chairman, were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and bylaws. The new organization will hold a meeting today, at which Leslie Clark, the temporary chairman, it was said yesterday, would probably be delegated to represent the college at the A. A. U. meeting tomorrow. Professor Folsom is expected to appear for the high school, and possibly Punahou will send D. J. Rieker, the new coach, to bring the Puns into the amateur athletic fold. Kamehameha will be represented by Stanley Livingston.

It was suggested yesterday that instead of having the tennis clubs join individually, it would be all right to have them enter under the Hawaiian Tennis Association, of which C. G. Boekus is president. Boekus will be busy contesting for the E. O. Hall cup in the tournament which starts today, but he may be able to get away tomorrow if he is not too strong with the request in the elimination struggle. Ray Rietow and Will Lyle are the boat club representatives who are expected to attend. James Jaeger is invited to attend for the Hawaii Yacht Club, and the Honolulu Yacht Club is invited to send a representative. In the absence of J. H. Fiddes, the Hawaiian Association Football will have to send some one in his stead. Alexander Hume Ford will represent the Trail and Mountain Club. The Outrigger Club will have a representative there. R. S. Gault will be there to represent the Boys' Club. Doctor Hand will appear for the Y. M. C. A. It is necessary to have at least ten clubs to initiate the movement, and there is very little time left to get in this year, as the A. A. U. holds its annual meeting on the fifteenth of November.
