

7 Clubs to Compete In Kailua Canoe Races

Seven canoe clubs, including one from Hilo, are warming up this week for the Labor Day Regatta set for Kailua Bay, Oahu, and sponsored by the Koolaupoko Lions Club.

The regatta is a two-day affair, with 10:30 a.m. races set for both Sunday and Monday.

Canoe racing in the Territory is looking up, both financially and artistically, according to race officials, following the successful Territorial championships at Kailua Bay, Kona, last month.

A bumper entry list is in the making for October's canoe windup, the exhausting Molokai to Waikiki race.

Hulas and Hawaiian music are part of the added attractions at the Labor Day

Regatta. Joyce Ehlers, Miss Kailua, will also be on hand.

Art Otremba is chairman of the races being directed by the Hawaiian Canoe Racing Association.

Competing clubs are the Kamehameha of Hilo, Waikiki Surf, Outrigger, Kai Oni, Healani, Holomua and Lanikai.
