

Keanu Cops Men's Title

James (Jammer) Keanu of Waikiki Surf Club, representing the Army, yesterday won the men's senior surfing championship of the International Surfing Meet at Makaha Beach in Waianae.

Vicky Heldreich of Waikiki Surf Club captured the women's surfing crown while Timmy Guard of Outrigger Canoe Club took first place in the men's junior event as the 1957 Makaha Meet was brought to a close.

Conditions were ideal for surfing, with surf hitting a maximum height of 15 feet from about 10:30 a.m. throughout the afternoon.

Keanu defeated a fine field of nine finalists in the men's senior event. Richard (Buffalo) Keaulana of Makaha, Joseph Nahulu of Makaha and Alex Adric finished in this order behind Keanu. The first four place winners represented the Army.

Dutchy Kino of Waikiki Surf was fifth and Joe Maunakea, also of WSC, took sixth place.

Dr. Dorean Paskowitz of Israel, John Bylander of San Pedro, Dave McCloud of the San Onofre Surf Club of Southern California, and Jim Haley of Huntington Beach Club of California and Del Cannon, representing Laguna Beach Club, were out-of-town entrants in the men's senior event.

Miss Heldreich defeated Ethel Kukea of Waikiki Surf for the women's title by a close margin. Kehau Kea of Outrigger was third and two WSC entrants took fourth and fifth. They were Jane Kaopuiki and Mozelle Angel.

Guard, who last Sunday won both the senior and junior mat surfing titles, competed yesterday although he had the flu. He gave a great performance to defeat a field of 36 entries. Joe Reydon, of Waianae Youth Club and last year's winner, was second.

Delhart Numazu of WSC was third, Bill Danford of OCC fourth and Melvin Kekuewa of Healanu fifth.

The meet was co-sponsored by Waikiki Surf Club and Waianae Lions Club. Joseph Dwight of Waianae and Al Bostick of WSC were co-chairmen.

A committee made up of Joe Maunakea, Dave Klausmeyer, Herb Case and Noah Kalama Sr. handled the events and rules.

Officials included "Toots" Minville, John McMahon, Harold Chun-Hoon, Fred Van Dyke and Bud Morrisey. John Lind was the announcer.

About 2,000 spectators lined the beach to watch the day-long events. Officials and veteran surfing fans said yesterday's performances in all three events were outstanding due to the fine surf.

remember ...

Clarence Maki

JAMES (JAMMER) KEANU