

National Team Wins In 4 Sets

The United States national women's volleyball team took three out of four sets from the Hawaii All-Stars last night for their second straight exhibition victory at the Central YMCA gym.

The Hawaii girls took the third set, 16-14, but the nationals won the first two, 15-7 and 15-12, then wrapped up the match with a 15-3 fourth set.

Although still far from a smooth working unit, the nationals showed good teamwork with Shar Buhlig, Sharon Peterson, Barbara Perry and Fannie Hopeau again turning in stellar games.

Jennie Panui, Gail O'Rourke and Cindy Kalama again stood out for the local girls.

The national team winds up its exhibition series tonight at Laie against the Hawaii All-Stars. The Outriggers and Central Y meet in a men's preliminary at 7 p.m.

The national team, of which former Hawaii State Senator and retired judge Calvin McGregor is trainer, leaves for Japan Wednesday at 1:15 p.m.
